

2018 David Hunter Memorial Lecture

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children in out-of-home care – Change the Future

*Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children in the ACT are 12.5 times (nationally 9.8 times) more likely to be living in out-of-home care than non-Indigenous children (Family Matters Report 2017).
How can we change this?*

Speakers: Adjunct Professor Muriel Bamblett AM,
Chief Executive Officer of the Victorian Aboriginal Child Care Agency (VACCA), the lead Aboriginal child and family welfare organisation in Victoria.

Fran Crowe and Selina Walker, sharing personal observations from their experiences around out-of-home care in Canberra.

When: 6pm, Tuesday 9 October 2018;
please join us for refreshments from 5.30pm.

Where: Australian Centre for Christianity and Culture, 15 Blackall Street, Barton.

Enquiries: info@antaract.org.au or call 0439 620 603.

David Hunter was one of the founding members of ANTaR, and an enormously supportive and inspiring activist on Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander issues. In October 2000 he was diagnosed with multiple myeloma, and he died in December 2003. Since then, ANTaR ACT has hosted an annual memorial lecture in memory of David's contributions to reconciliation and Indigenous rights.
